When Diablo cigars were introduced in 2004, aficionados worldwide were preoccupied with more full-bodied cigars. So despite their unique flavor and aroma, these poor little devils got lost in the sauce. Famous Smoke Shop acquired them exclusively and now we're bringing them to you at a mere fraction of their original price.

Famed blending mastermind, Daniel Nuñez, packed picante Dominican and Nicaraguan Ligero longfillers in a juicy Connecticut Broadleaf binder, then capped it in a savory Ecuadorian Sumatra wrapper. The experience is a well-balanced smoke with a seductive aroma. Intimidating though it may be, don't let the packaging fool you — these are true medium-bodied cigars.

Smooth-smoking and laced with notes of pepper, there's enough zest to keep things interesting, but they are never overpowering. Try a box today.

Dig the relaxing Island vibes

Are all those heavy cigars making you weary? Is your palate going through full-flavor overload? If you answered "yes", I have an affordably-priced cigar that will help rejuvenate your taste buds and still give you a flavorful smoke.

Crème de Jamaica is handmade with a blend of prime Dominican and Indonesian tobaccos rolled in a U.S. Connecticut wrapper. You'll notice the wrapper is more of a medium shade of brown, called "Colorado Claro." The construction and draw are superb, and the cigar burns with a firm grey ash. The smoke is smooth, creamy and mild with a predominant cedar wood flavor underscored by a delicately spicy aroma. Try Crème de Jamaica today.

An affordable Nicaraguan Puro that dazzles the senses

Famous Private Selection Nicaraguan Corojo is nothing short of a labor of love. We worked closely with master blenders at Tabacalera Tropical in Esteli, Nicaragua for over a year before we got the flavor just right, and the result is "puro" perfection. A beautiful, oily Cuban-seed Corojo wrapper tightly hugs long-aged, Cuban-seed Ligero longfiller and binder tobaccos. The smoke is characteristically Corojo: well-balanced, complex, and laced with dark, spicy tobacco flavors, yet remarkably smooth.

What could a real-estate tycoon possibly know about cigar making?

A lot, it turns out. Arganese cigars began as the personal cigar of developer Gene Arganese. Due to increasing demand, he began selling a mild, medium and full-bodied version (Ambassador, Chairman and Presidente, respectively) in several wrappers. These acclaimed cigars put him on the map.

He's since simplified the lineup, tweaked the blend, and changed the packaging. But because our customers loved "last year's model" so much, Famous has acquired the whole lot and we're passing the savings on to you. The catch? Once they're gone, they're gone for good. For a cigar as rich as its namesake, try a box of Arganese today.

Cariños means "tenderness" in Spanish, and reflects the care Nestor Plasencia takes in the manufacture of this fine selection. It is offered in a natural Nicaraguan Jalapa Seco or Nicaraguan Viso Oscuro wrapper.

The Natural offers a medium-bodied smoke, accented with wood, leather, and a hint of spice on a sweet finish. The Oscuro wrapper boasts an earthier, full-flavored smoke conveying deep, dark tobacco flavor. For a luxury cigar at a great value, Cariños can't be beat. Try a box today.

Perfect soil yields perfect tobaccos

Perdomo Lot 23 is named for the lot of virgin land just north of Perdomo's Esteli factory. Discovered by his late father, Nick Sr., Nick Perdomo said, "The soil was so rich that 70% of the farm didn't need fertilizer." Masterfully blended with Cuban Corojo and Criollo '98 fillers and binders harvested in January of 2001, the crop was fermented for one year, bale-aged for three years and capped in creamy Connecticut or sweet Maduro wrappers. New Size, Same Great Blend

Perdomo Cuban Parejos have always been huge cigars with huge flavor. Until now, these premiums have been presented exclusively in wide ring gauges that would pose a challenge to the most committed of vipers. To bring this winner to a wider audience, Nick Perdomo has combined the same medium to full-bodied blend of longfillers from the Jalapa, Condega, Ocotal and Esteli regions of Nicaragua into more traditional sizes.

Not to worry — the new sizes still emit creamy, earthy smoke and that telltale nutty aroma. And for fans of the larger sizes, some are still available on our website. Whatever your preference, one thing is for certain — these are well worth a try.

Discover the allure of the full-bodied Olor

Created by the Oliva family, Olor Nicaragua's filler and binder tobaccos are grown in various regions of Nicaragua (Esteli, Condega, and the Jalapa Valley), imparting a distinctive flavor and aroma to each leaf. The cigars boast a rich, Ecuadorian-grown Habano-seed wrapper, where the combination of cloud-filtered sunlight and rich volcanic soil of Ecuador creates a naturally dark, oily and spicy-tasting leaf. The result is a smoke that's smooth and zesty with a surplus of depth, yet not overpowering. A must-try cigar!
